

YELLOW CHAMP (2)

New Vowel Update

Sh'va :

Sound: Short at the beginning of a word

Sound: Silent in the middle of a word

See "Sh'va Vowel Instructions" Page for more detailed information about this vowel

Sh'va :

A Brief Explanation

When a Sh'va is at the beginning of a word, it is a short vowel.
When written, it often takes the form “ih”.

Example: בַּטַּח is pronounced Bih-Tach

When a Sh'va is in the middle of a word, it is a silent vowel.

Example: גַּמְרָה is pronounced Gam-rah

Helpful Hint:

When trying to read a silent Sh'va, it can be helpful to pretend there is no vowel there at all, and that the letter above the Sh'va is at the end of the word.

On the word גַּמְרָה, if you imagine that the word ends at the Mem (מ), and that there is no vowel underneath the mem, you would see this word: גַּמ . This word is easily read as “Gam”.

After that, you just continue by reading everything after that letter (in this case, רָה = Rah).

All together, when reading גַּמְרָה you get “Gam-Rah”.
